rkd retail/iQ

20 years ago you would not have recognized this sleepy little fishing and farming village, today Shenzhen is the economic and commercial capital of China South and a visible testament to the economic reforms of the central government and the vision of Deng Xiaoping.

global capital reestablished shanghai

rkd retail/iQ

There was a period in the not too distant past when Shanghai was the most modern city in the world. Anyone who has visited lately surely recognizes the ambition and effort displayed to regain the lost momentum and reestablish Shanghai as the economic and commercial capital of China East and a true global capital.

evolving role for the border town hong kong

rkd retail/iQ

The roles have reversed over the last few years as Hong Kong is now considered a border town of China where as not too long ago Shenzhen was the border town of Hong Kong. Asia's world city has an abundance of opportunity within their new role as they are more important than ever.
