A close-up photograph of a blue and white striped fabric, possibly a shirt's collar or cuff. The stripes are thick and well-defined against a dark background.

A horizontal track lighting system with five illuminated heads is mounted on a dark, angular ceiling. The fixture is illuminated from below, casting a blue glow along its length. A single recessed light is visible on the ceiling to the right of the track.

A wide-angle photograph of a modern interior space. The ceiling is white with several recessed light fixtures. A large, stylized blue graphic, possibly representing water or waves, is painted on a white wall in the foreground. The overall aesthetic is clean and minimalist.
